

CALL FOR PAPERS

The Annual Meeting of the
Anthropologists and Sociologists of Kentucky
April 6, 2019

Campbellsville University
Campbellsville, Kentucky

Deadline for Abstracts is March 1, 2019

Theme:
Community and Diversity

Anthropologists and sociologists of Kentucky, you and your students are invited to organize a session or roundtable or to present a paper or poster. Both undergraduate and graduate students are encouraged to present their research. While we would like to encourage sessions and roundtables around our topic of community and diversity, research and discussions on any aspect of sociology or anthropology will be gladly accepted. If you have an idea for a session and need help contacting other presenters, feel free to contact Jonathan May at the email below.

Submission of abstracts and session topics as well as registration for the conference can be completed at: <http://ask.anthroniche.com/meetings-membership/>

Jules Delambre Student Paper Contest

Students are invited to compete in this annual competition. First, second, and third place will be awarded cash prizes.

Registration Cost (includes lunch):

$50 - Faculty & Professionals

$35 - Students & Retired
